NATHANITE 1967

DRURY HIGH SCHOOL
NORTH ADAMS, MASSACHUSETTS

WHAT IS A SCHOOL?

It is a building
populated by faculty and students and held together by pride and spirit.

The principal and faculty members are the active, enthusiastic group who guide the students of the school.

The students are a likely, typical group of teens who work with spirit to achieve excellence in each of the fields
in which they participate.

The main goal of a school is to teach students
to lead happy, productive lives.
Along with the many courses offered,
there are many activities.

The pep rallies, assemblies,
class meetings, and club meetings are all part of the school
along with the themes,
tests, book reports,
projects, and homework.

Also a part of a school
are the friendships shared,
knowledge and experience gained,
and the memories of school life filled with all its fun, work, and study.

PAST TO PRESENT

The funds left in the will of Nathan Drury in 1843 provided for the erection of Drury Academy in 1867. In 1917 a new building was erected to replace the original one which was damaged by fire.

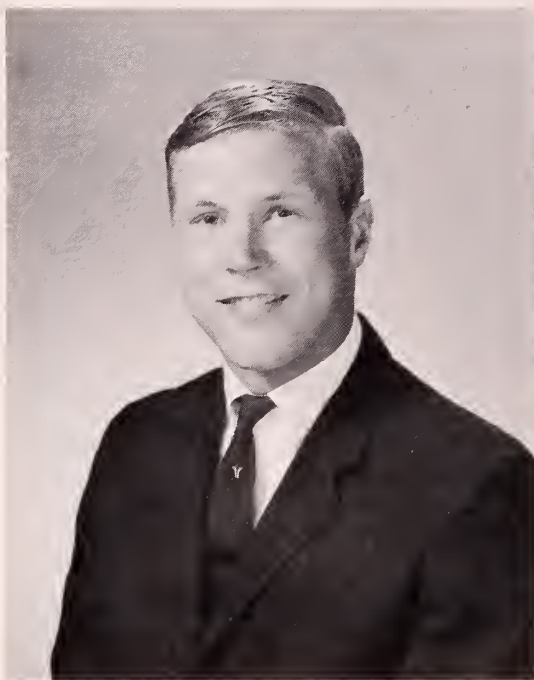

It is with pride that this year Drury celebrates the centennial of its creation and the golden jubilee of its present building.

On behalf of the Nathanite Staff

Special thanks go out to our advisor, Mr. Irving P. Toupence,

our generous advertisers,

DEDICATION

Since 1921 Mr. Mark Murray has been a dedicated member of the Drury faculty. He has always been generous with his time in helping the students with scenery for the plays, proms, and many other extra projects. The school has highly benefited from his sincere and thoughtful work. It is with pride that we dedicate the 1967 Nathanite to him.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

A four-year program of English is offered at Drury. It includes the study of grammar and literature as preparation for college. Creative writing, a new course added this year, helps students to develop their writing talents.

Recent activities of the English classes include composition, term papers, book reports and research papers.

Accelerated courses are offered to students with special aptitude and interests in English. Emphasis in these classes is placed on composition and appreciation of literature.

Front row: M. Howard, E. Trudeau Back row: N. Sondrini, C. Millette, E. Le-Bert

French, Latin, Spanish, and Italian are the languages offered at Drury. The goal of the language department is to help students gain a further understanding of foreign countries and their people by learning to read, speak, write, and understand their languages. Our language laboratory, consisting of tapes, records, and individual listening devices, provides excellent facilities for learning.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Earth science, biology, chemistry, and physics classes make up the science department at Drury. Biology classes study living things, chemistry classes experiment with the elements, and physics classes learn the laws of physics

MATH

The purpose of the Math Department is to develop thinking in fundamental concepts and lines of continuity and to show the growth in dependency on mathematics in many other fields. The study of mathematics gives the students a fundamental command of mathematics so as to encourage independent study and to prepare college students for continued work.

CLASS ODE

(Tune: The Sweetheart Tree)

Farewell to thee, beloved Drury,
Farewell to the days of our youth.
Our lives will tell
That you have taught us well
To cherish and search for the truth.

We know not what paths we may follow,
But we will ne'er forget.
The laughter, the fun,
The sharing are done.
Farewell, the world awaits yet.

Juniors

The Junior class members have by now united into a distinct group. They have gone through many changing years. They linger on the past with all its familiarities, and strive to maintain their goals. This is a year when they ask questions, and doubt the answers. The junior year is a year when college is still in the future, but a year when each student must make his individual decisions about his future and education. During the junior year, the class must maintain its spirit in order to make their senior year more exciting and more rewarding.

Sophomores

The Sophomores return to Drury with a confidence of having been here before. They are eager to retrace familiar steps, to bring back good times, to renew friendships, and to profit by last year's experiences. They sense a duty to the school. Sophomores are a little wiser. They show a lot of pep and enthusiasm in the various school activities. Their high school experiences are broadened.

THE NATHANITE

Yearbook Staff

There was a time when a yearbook was simply a scrapbook: A collection of snapshots and a few humorous anecdotes such as "Silliest Sophomores," "Jolly Juniors," etc. Times have changed. It is now the staff's obligation to provide complete and accurate coverage of all facets of Drury's social and academic life. The staff of the 1967 Nathanite has attempted to do this. You will note that we have deviated somewhat from the past in some areas; some things you will like, others you will shake your head at. It is our fond hope that you will look on our work as a step in the line of progress.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Drury High School Student Council plays an important role in representing the student body and providing entertaining social functions outside of individual class activities and sports. They voice the sentiment and opinions of the student body and promote the general welfare of the school.

The annual Field Day event is a project of the Student Council. This year it was held on September 14, 1966, and in spite of the rain, the day was quite successful. The feature race for this year's field day was the "orange race." This proved to be quite fun and brought out a laugh from everyone. The competition was keen but the Sophomores and Juniors edged out the Seniors and Freshmen by a very close score.

The weekend of February 10, 11, and 12, 1967, the Council sponsored the second Winter Carnival Weekend. The lively Drury—St. Joseph game was Friday night followed by a victory dance at the Drury gym. The highlight of the weekend was the Winter Carnival Ball, which took place Saturday, February 11, 1967 at Greylock School. The theme was "Be My Valentine." Other events were ski competitions and snow sculptures.

The Student Council provides our student body with the social as well as scholastic, enthusiasm that we desire.

Exchange

It was a busy week when the exchange group from Plymouth, Wisconsin visited North Adams in November. They attended football games, toured the local industries and went to many parties and dances held for them.

The Drury-Plymouth Exchange offered the members of both groups an opportunity to develop lasting friendships and to learn of the customs of another section.

The exchange program emphasizes an exchange of opinions and ideas and is an important phase of educational development.

Exchange officers discuss plans for the week. Standing are Don Anderson and John Lenhoff, seated are Richard Lamb and Mel Blanche

DRURY BAND

The band has provided much entertainment for football and basketball games, pep rallies and assemblies and has proved to be a great boost in the spirits to the Drury fans.

This year, the 71 piece Drury High School Band, under the direction of Henry Blake, was fortunate to be chosen to represent the United States at the 1967 Exposition in Montreal, Canada.

Officers were chosen to help Mr. Blake in his work. They are:

President—Arthur Murphy
Vice President—Daniel Merrigan
Secretary—Ann Marie Simonelli
Treasurer—Ellen Berry
Drum Sergeant—Gary Theberge
Librarian—Douglas Caron

The majorettes, under the leadership of Cheryl Sweet, have put on a series of half-time shows at football and basketball games, accompanied by the band. They also made the trip to Canada and put on a spectacular show.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

On April 6 and 8, the Senior Class of Drury High School presented "The Mouse that Roared", a satire on American politics. It tells the story of a small, insignificant country, the Duchy of Grand Fenwick, which wages war on the United States, when her chief livelihood, a specially fermented wine, Pinat Grand Fenwick, was produced under a different name at a cheaper price in America. When by a ridiculous fluke, the Duchy comes into possession of the powerful Q-bomb from the U.S., national interest is suddenly switched to the remote little country.

It was altogether a wonderful play, and the actors and directors did a tremendous job in making it a terrific success!

Taking major roles in the play were: Bill Carson as General Snippet, Natalie Babine portraying Duchess Glorianna, Jim Howe as Tully Bascom and Donald Laird as Count Mountjoy.

The four prisoners of war: Mary Ann Scerbo and Jean Talarico as two Army Wacs, Roger Wood as Professor Kokintz, Bill Carson as General Snippet, are guarded here by the four Fenwickian soldiers: Jim Hardman, David Coughlin, Eddie Dassatti and Howie Horn.

Darlene Simon, portraying Gloriana's page, reads a proclamation.

Howard Horn and Ed Dassatti, two soldiers in the Fenwickian Army, stand ready for orders to blow out the tires on the Army jeep.

CAST

Sitting: Stephen Bailey; Gerald Kelly, Kristen Fabricius; Mary Kelly, Hope Rennell; Clementine Kelly, Michael Silsby; Hank, Sharon McNamara; Cathy, Patricia Sukel; Jane Ann, Daniel Merrigan; Pete. Standing: Richard Cannity; Tubby, Leslie

Thompson; Ann McNeil, Marianne Canedy; Miss Prunella Pringle, Mary Ellen LaFountain, Bertha Kelly, Miss Eleanor Ringdahl; director, Steven Bard; Abe Carter.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"I guess it's been you all along, Clementine."

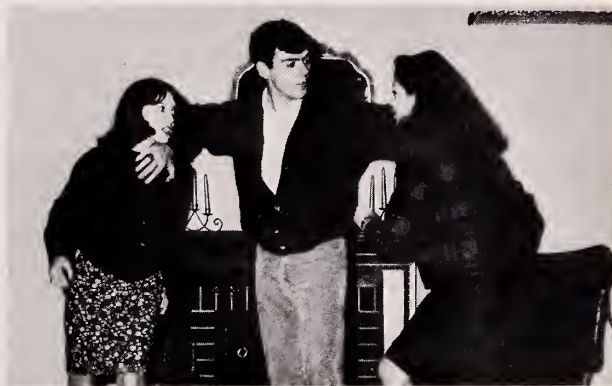

"Just because Kathy will jump for you when you call Fido, doesn't mean I will! You're nothing but a cheap coward, Hank Mathews, and I will never want to see you again!"

"Well let me tell you, you tight-fisted old skinflint, if you had let us have some money for playgrounds, your blasted window would have never been broken."

"Now wait a minute girls, if you really must fight over something, why don't you fight over something intelligent, ME!"

Junior Class Play

On December 14 and 15, 1966, the Junior Class presented Clementine, a comedy in three acts. Clementine Kelly, a sixteen year old tom-boy whose major interest appears to be football, begins to learn about the normal interest of teenage girls: boys! Because of her previous attitude toward the opposite sex she finds it hard to convince Hank that she is interested in more than just knocking him down. After turning her attentions from football to public speaking she learns that the way to get to a boy is not to overpower him, but to let him overpower her. This delightful comedy, sprinkled with the problems of Mr. Kelly's re-election to Mayor, Miss Pringle's broken window, Jane Ann's gossip, and Cathy's power of enticement over all the boys, even Hank, ends happily with Clementine winning Hank.

CHEERLEADERS

J.V.

CHEERLEADERS

The student body is encouraged to show more pep and spirit through the enthusiastic efforts of the cheerleaders. They appear at all sport events, rallies and parades. Our cheerleaders show the zeal and enthusiasm necessary to influence the student body and to encourage our teams to victory. They sponsor a snake dance and a pep rally the night before the Adams football game along with other dances throughout the year.

On March 17, the Varsity Cheering Squad attended their first cheerleading tournament which was held in Greenfield. Their fine display of cheering ability won them a third place standing in the tournament.

Tryouts are held every spring and girls in their Freshmen, Sophomore and Junior years who wish to lead and encourage our teams to victory are eligible to tryout.

Varsity Club

Varsity Club

An active group at Drury, the Varsity Club provides social functions and entertainment for the student body. All members of the Varsity Club hold a letter from some sport at Drury.

In November of 1966, the Varsity Club sponsored a raffle. Drawings were held and winners were provided with free tickets to the Adams football game. The club also held several dances throughout the year.

The boys in the Varsity Club show a great deal of school spirit. They provide amusing skits which are held at pep-rallies and are a great help to the cheerleaders in encouraging the student body to show more spirit.

The Academe, Drury's literary magazine, presents the best literary work of its students in as many issues a year as is financially possible. The staff is composed of juniors and seniors. This year two issues were published, and an exchange program with Cooper High School's (Abilene, Texas) Commentarius was set up. It is hoped that the Academe program will continue to expand.

The Future Teachers of America club is an active group at Drury. Through their work as a club, they have guest speakers, visit places of interest, learn more about the teaching profession, and at the end of the year, go to different schools and observe the way classes are taught.

F.T.A. provides its members with the insights of the teaching profession and helps them to decide if teaching is the career for them. It also gives the students a chance in leadership by making them lead their own meetings and plan their own affairs.

Highlights of the 1966-67 F.T.A. were a trip to the Clark School for the Deaf and the selling of sharp-looking Drury crew shirts.

NU SIGMA EPSILON 1967

CHORUS

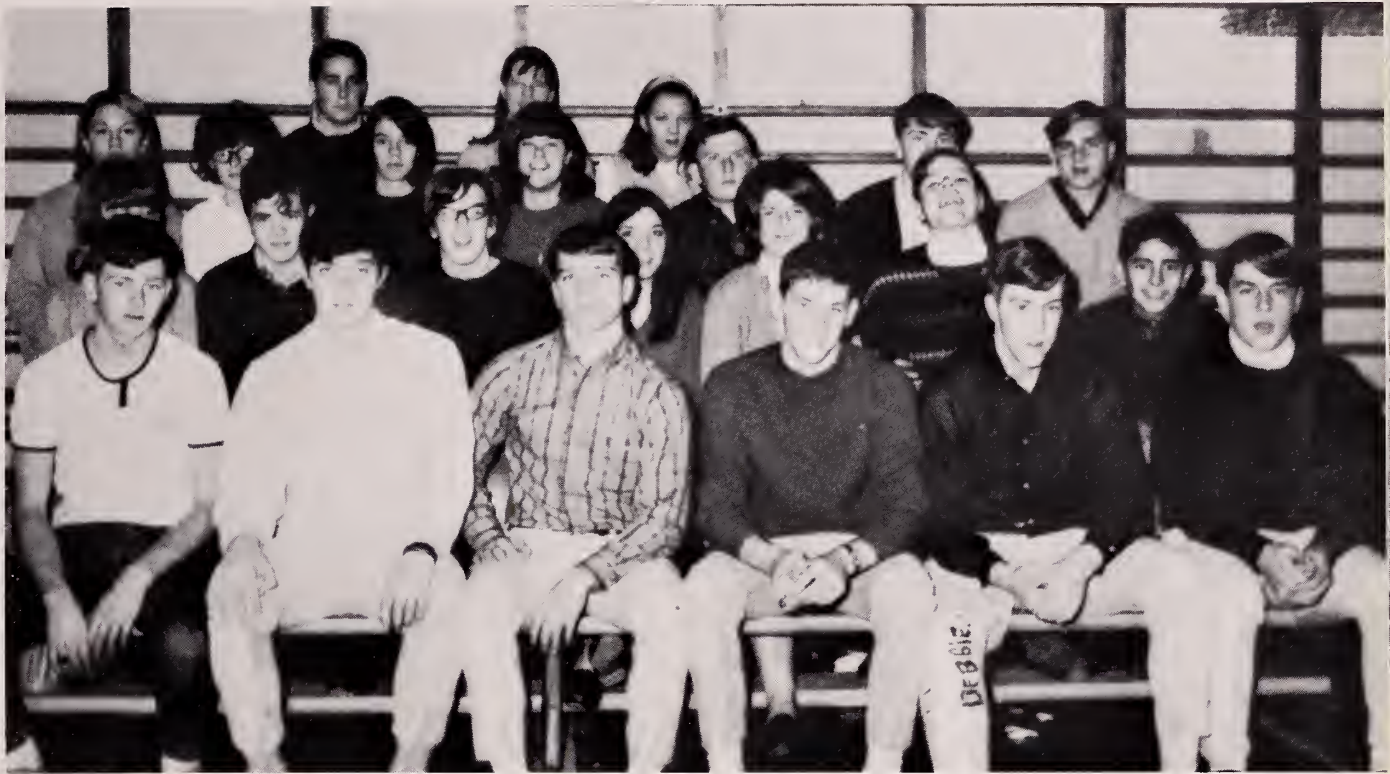

The Drury High School Chorus, under the leadership of Miss Croscup is one of Drury's largest organizations. The group participated in the Christmas and Memorial Day assemblies and turned out a fine performance. PROJECTIONISTS

Francis Rogers and Mark Marino are employed as projectionists at Drury. Besides running all the movies, their other duties include light maintenance of equipment; spotlight, and stage management for special shows.

Contestants nervously await the final decision of the judges.

In an atmosphere of soft lights and lovely array, the John H. Reilly Speaking Contest was held on April 3, 1967. James Naughton serving as Master of Ceremonies, introduced the seven contestants. The selections ranged from excerpts of plays to lighthearted comedy. Kathleen Toohey provided vocal selections from various musicals while the judges were making their decisions. It proved to be a delightful evening for all.

Memorial Day

The annual Memorial Day exercises was one of the outstanding assemblies of the year. In the auditorium the band played a medley of war songs and the chorus played two appropriate selections. Mr. Walter J. Mendel, Guidance Counselor of Drury High School, was guest speaker. The student body moved outside where a procession of thirty Senior girls placed geranium plants and flags at the bases of the trees planted in memory of the war veterans of Drury. The culmination of the ceremony was the presentation of a memorial stone by Paul McKane and Michael Patashnick, representatives of the Class of 1966.

At the Memorial Day exercises, Mr. Drotter accepted the memorial stone from Paul McKane and Michael Patashnick, members of the Class of 1966.

MEMORIAL DAY

Judy Gould and Carole Reberger placed a wreath in front of the memorial stone prior to the dedication.

Lois McLain placed a geranium plant beside one of the trees as Ellen Hilchey inserted the flag into the marker.

A BALANCED NEWSPAPER

Informed citizens need these days to know not only what is going on in their home community, but what is happening in their state, in the nation's capital—and in the world.

The Transcript is dedicated to filling these needs for information for the people of Northern Berkshire. In addition to a full news report of community activities, it daily presents a comprehensive report of what is happening in Massachusetts, in Washington and in world news spots.

In addition, The Transcript regularly publishes informative background news, thoughtful columns and vigorous, forthright and informed editorial comment on the issues of the day.
